W. G. Mize Ends 25 Years' Service

By Anne Washburn McWilliams,
Editorial Assistant

On October 15, after 25 years of service to the institution, W. G. Mize is retiring as Superintendent of the Baptist Orphanage in Jackson. In 1935 Mr. Mize was elected business manager of the Orphanage; on January 15, 1936 he was elected acting superintendent and on April 12, 1936 he became superintendent. In these 25 years he has played the role of father to 1766 children at the Orphanage—

—plus three of his own! Mr. and Mrs. Mize are moving to 5474 Pine Lane Drive in northeast Jackson. (Mrs. Mize a graduate of Belhaven, has served as assistant superintendent of the Orphanage.)

Thanksgiving, 1935

At Thanksgiving time in 1935, a few weeks after Mr. Mize had begun work at the Orphanage, a wagon clattered down gravel-spattered Woodrow Wilson. Two mules picked their way gingerly over the railroad tracks, the wagon rattling along behind (there was no viaduct on Woodrow Wilson then), as they made their way to the depot. The wagon driver was going after Thanksgiving supplies for the Baptist Orphanage sent from the churches via train.

That Christmas, 85 children who lived in the one three-story building on the campus, gaily trooped to a Christmas party given for them at First Church, Jackson. To them, a tooth brush, or an extra large piece of gingerbread were luxuries! A little red wagon brought joy unspeakable!

This Thanksgiving Mr. Mize plans to have dinner with his family. He has had Christmas dinner at the Orphanage every Christmas for the past 25 years and has spent every Thanksgiving day there for the past 25 years, save one. He says that now he plans to enjoy some (Continued on Page 2)

The biggest annual event in the life of Mississippi Baptists is scheduled to be held November 15, 16 and 17 in Jackson's First Baptist Church.

The Mississippi Baptist Convention, meeting in its 125th session, will be highlighted this year with a strong program featuring a large number of outstanding speakers.

High inspirational hours, excellent reports, the adoption of a record mission budget and fellowship will be the order of the day as messengers from all parts of the state converge on the capital city.

Kyzar Chairman

According to Dr. J. H. Kyzar, Greenwood, chairman of the Convention's Order of Business Committee, the program will get underway at 9:30 Tuesday morning and adjourn Thursday night after the Youth Night Rally.

Inspirational speakers include Dr. Ramsey Pollard, of Memphis, president of the Southern Baptist Convention; Dr. R. G. Lee, Memphis, retired, former pastor of Bellevue Baptist Church; Dr. H. Leo Eddleman, president of New Orleans Baptist Seminary; Dr. Dale Moody, professor of Christian Theology, Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, Ky.; Dr. Glenn Archer, Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State, Washington, D. C.; and Rev. John Parker, Southern Baptist missionary to Chile.

The Youth Night session, to be held at City Auditorium, will feature Howard Butt, groceryman of Corpus Christi, Tex., as the speaker.

Buice To Lead Music

Jack Buice, Oxford, who is in charge of Convention music, will lead the singing. The combined choirs of the four Baptist colleges will bring the special music.

Chicago Seminary Planned

Carbondale, Ill. (BP)—A committee of the Illinois Baptist State Association recommends that the Association create a seminary in Chicago during the present decade.

It also recommends a state Baptist home for aged during the same period (1965-1969).

The long-range committee, however, reports that "present budget possibilities" rule out creation of a state Baptist college.

The committee's report, published in the Illinois Baptist, goes to the annual association meeting in Rockford, Ill., in November for action.

"There seems little hope that there will be any serious attempt on the part of the Convention to start a seminary in the Chicago area in the near future. If anything is done about such a project it is evident that Illinois Baptists will have to do it," the committee added.

Named Director Juvenile Program

Rev. Lincoln Newman, of Lucedale, area superintendent of missions for south Mississippi for several years, has been named as state Director of Juvenile Rehabilitation, in the office of Dr. Foy Rogers, secretary of Cooperative Missions of the State Convention Board, effective November 1.

The new program will be the first of its kind in the Southern Baptist Convention and will be sponsored jointly by the State Convention Board, the Home Mission Board, Atlanta, and the Hinds County Baptist Association, according to Dr. Chester L. Quarles, Jackson, state Baptist Executive Secretary-Treasurer.

Begins In Hinds

CHURCH APPROVES BIGGEST BUDGET EVER - $1,195,000

DALLAS—(BP)—The First Baptist Church of Dallas has approved what is believed to be the largest annual local church budget "in the history of Christendom."

The record $1,195,000 budget was unanimously adopted by members of the church here Sunday.

More than half of the 1961 general budget will go for missionary causes outside the local church program.

WORLD IN A MESS SAYS BWA LEADER

Fort Worth — The world in which we live is a mess — it is sick, hungry, and exploited and it is hard to understand why some people have so much and others have so little, Robert Denny, secretary of youth work for the Baptist World Alliance, Washington, D. C., said here Thursday morning.

Addressing students and faculty at Southwestern Seminary, Mr. Denny said, "Our whole world is in revolution. The Communists are riding high on this ferment and its tentacles are seeking to capture the world."

Mr. Denny stopped at Southwestern while on a tour of Baptist institutions in the mid-west and South. He spoke Wednesday at Midwestern Seminary in Kansas City and travels to Louisiana Friday.

NOT WINNING

"The brand of Christianity we are living is just not winning the world. Among Southern Baptists last year our baptisms, number of minister or-inations and giving were down. A new spiritual birth rate must take place in our time if we are to defeat Communism," Mr. Denny explained.

Denny, who serves the 23 million Baptists in America, said that "America is not the special pet of God. If we do not straighten up God may sit back and let the enemies of Christianity take over. Our generation must come up with something new for Christ. Today the world is on fire and God wants all of us in the 'bucket brigade'."

Mefford Becomes Indian Missionary

Atlanta —(BP)— Rev. R. L. Mefford of Liberty, Miss., will become General Missionary to the Choctaw Indians at Philadelphia, Miss., Nov. 1. He replaces Rev. Victor Kaneubbe, Missionary to the more than 3500 Choctaws in Mississippi for three years.

Mefford, who has been superintendent of missions in Amite and Wilkinson counties in Mississippi since 1957, will serve the 12 Choctaw Indian churches on the Reservation and direct the work of the Baptist Indian Center in Philadelphia.

SBC STARTS MISSION IN RHODE ISLAND

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (RNS) — Southern Baptists, stepping up home mission activities in the Northern states, have launched work in Rhode Island.

Rev. Elmer Sizemore of New York, area missionary for the nine-state Northeastern Association of Southern Baptist Churches, conducted a preliminary meeting at the YWCA here, attended by seven adults, at which the group decided to officially begin a mission here on Oct. 16.

Some Workers To Stay In Cuba

Atlanta —(BP)— Not all of Southern Baptists' missionaries will leave Cuba at the present time.

The information came from Mrs. J. David Fite of Havana, wife of a missionary studying language in Costa Rica and daughter of the director of Southern Baptist activities on the island Herbert Caudill.

The missionaries have been given the privilege of making their own decision whether or not to follow the suggestion of the United States Government to leave.

WORK PROGRESSES ON BAPTIST CENTER

DR. FRED B. MOSELEY of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board (at right) presents check for $25,000 for the Negro Baptist Center in Jackson to Dr. J. Clark Hensley, Hinds Superintendent of Missions. Looking on are Dr. Wm. P. Davis, Jackson, Secretary of Negro Work Department of the State Convention Board, and Mrs. J. T. Lyons, McComb, state WMU president.

Dr. Fred B. Moseley, Secretary, Department of City Missions, of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board was a recent visitor in Jackson for the purpose of conferring with local officials and presenting a check for $25,000 to be used toward the construction of the Negro Baptist Center, formerly the Baptist Children's Nook.

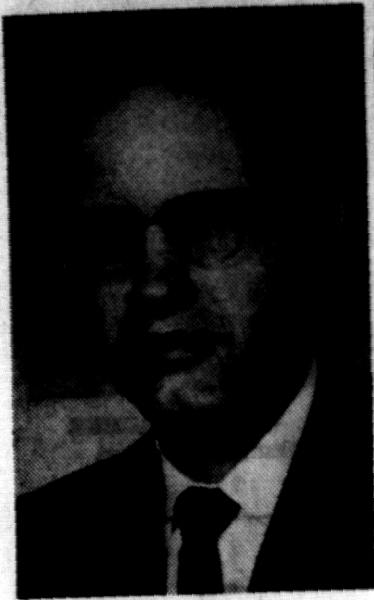

Construction is going forward now on the new building at 232 East Bell Street, which will cost in excess of $60,000.

The Center serves primarily for a kindergarten and nursery day care.

Joint Sponsorship

It has been jointly sponsored by the Hinds County Association and the Home Mission Board since 1953. Under a recent agreement between the Home Board and the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board Dr. Wm. P. Davis, secretary Department of Negro Work of the State Board will administer the Board's part of the joint project.

tist College in Arkadelphia, Ark., and New Orleans Seminary in Louisiana, Mefford will be jointly employed by the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board and the Home Mission Board after the first of the year. Until then, he will serve under the home board only.

Mefford is a native of Tim-nath, Colo., and his wife, Barbara Ann, who will serve with him, is a native of Arkansas. He held pastorates in Amite and Pike counties in Mississippi and an associate pastorate in Bauxite, Ark. before entering associational mission work.

Kaneubbe is now a missionary to the Nayajo Indians at Farmington, New M.

GREEN LAKE, Wis. (RNS) Plans for a series of theological conferences in 1961, 1962 and 1963 were mapped here at a meeting of the American Baptist Convention's Advisory Board for Theological Studies. To be invited to the first conference, set for Green Lake, Wis., July 1-5, 1961, will be some 150 divinity professors, comprising the entire faculty of the nine ABC theological schools as well as American Baptist professors at other seminaries in the U. S.

Presiding over most of the sessions will be M. F. Rayburn of Meridian, Convention president. He will be assisted by Rev. Jeff Brantley, Forest, first vice-president, and Dr. Roland Q. Leavell, Jackson, second vice-president.

Paul Adams of Laurel is recording secretary with Horace Kerr of Jackson serving as associate recording secretary. Preaching the Convention sermon will be Rev. H. J. Rushing of Gulfport with Rev. W. W. Grafton of Hattiesburg reading the Scripture. Dr. J. W. Harbin, former pastor of First Church, New Albany, was scheduled to bring the Convention sermon until he accepted a pastorate in another state. Miss Hazel Chisholm of the host church will be the organist.

Outstanding Leaders

Other outstanding Southern Baptist leaders representing various Boards and Agencies to appear on program include Dr. W. C. Fields, Executive Committee of Southern Baptist Convention, Nashville; Dr. Alton Reed, Annuity Board, Dallas; Dr. Paul Stevens, Radio and TV Commission, Fort Worth; Dr. Frank Gruner, Baptist Memorial Hospital, Memphis; Dr. Millard J. Berquist, Midwestern Baptist Seminary, Kansas City, Missouri; Thomas Holloway, American Bible Society, Dallas; Dr. Donald F. Ackland, Sunday School Board, Nashville; Leland H. Waters, Home Mission Board, Atlanta; and George Carver, Carver School of Missions and Social Work, Louisville, Ky.

Following the Wednesday evening session a reception will be held in Fellowship Hall in honor of W. G. Mize, retiring superintendent of the Baptist Orphanage, and Mrs. Mize.

Record Budget

The Convention will be presented with a record $2,700,000 Cooperative Program budget, $200,000 more than this year's objective. This will come as a recommendation from the Convention Board.

The Convention will be presented with the recommendation of the Education Commission, which was also adopted by the Convention Board.

Under the recommendation schools participating in Capital Needs Program beginning November 1, 1960, would be permitted to borrow up to 80 per cent of their allocation, and to pledge Convention receipts to the lending institution as security for the loan thus negotiated. Mississippi College and William Carey have already been given authority to borrow up to 50 per cent of allocation in 1959. Both need an additional 30 per cent.

Clarke Request

Clarke College has requested permission to borrow $60,000 while Blue Mountain College has requested permission to borrow $30,000.

Under the recommendation Blue Mountain College would have permission to promote financial campaign in 1962, and Mississippi College would have permission to promote financial campaign in 1963.

Officers for the Convention are scheduled to be elected. If custom is followed, a minister will be elected as minister to succeed Mr. Rayburn, who has served the customary two years.

Experience has painfully taught me that to realize life's most worthwhile goals I must find and come to know myself—become a member and not just a product of my society, become myself and not just what others think I should be, and come to know God for myself and not just as a stereotype or package of propositions. —Andy Puckett, graduate student Southeastern Seminary, "Lessons I Learned in College" in the October Baptist Student.

On Sunday, October 9, First Church, Jackson, dedicated a bronze tablet bearing the names of ten men from that church who have been ordained to the gospel ministry or have been appointed as missionaries since January 1, 1946. Space has been provided for other names, those who go into similar Christian service in years to come.

At the 11 o'clock worship service on October 9, Dr. W. Douglas Hudgins, pastor of First Church, displayed the tablet and explained its meaning to the congregation.

A special committee has been at work for several months drawing up the list of names and seeking information about the ten men. This committee (Dr. R. W. Tyler, chairman, W. E. Holcomb, Louis Hollis, Dr. E. C. Williams, Kermit King, Mrs. G. A. Carothers, and Miss Gladys Clement) presented its official report on Wednesday night, October 5.

The names of the following men have been inscribed on the tablet:

James Foster has been under foreign missionary appointment since 1947. Born in Jackson, he was ordained on the last day of December, 1944. Currently he is serving in the Philippine Islands—Dean of the Philippine Baptist Theological Seminary, pastor of the Chinese Baptist Church of Baguio, and Treasurer of the Philippine Mission.

John Steen, born in Jackson, and the first to be ordained by First Church during the ministry of Dr. Hudgins, was ordained on September 14, 1947. For several years he was assistant pastor of First Church, Milledgeville, Georgia. Since September 1, he has been pastor of the Oaklawn Church, Winston-Salem, N. C.

days of leisure and to spend time with his family, for which, up to this time, he has not had ample opportunity.

Sixteen Buildings

There are now 16 buildings at the Baptist Orphanage, including a barn and dairy. The Christmas tree for Children's Village is now held in the chapel at the Orphanage. First Church, Jackson sets aside $1000.00 each year for the children's gifts.

The past 25 years have been years of progress—from horse and buggy days to the jet age at breathtaking pace. They have been years of progress at the Baptist Orphanage, under the leadership of W. G. Mize, Superintendent.

No Debts Now

Through his diligent efforts, debts of long standing were paid in full. Badly depreciated buildings were torn down and new brick buildings constructed on a "Pay as we go" plan.

Cooperative Program gifts to the Orphanage in 1955-56 totaled $3,457.87. In 1956-57, Cooperative Program funds for the Orphanage amounted to $44,276.81. In 1957-58, the Orphanage debt was $7,500.00. The indebtedness today is nothing. Endowment in 1955-56 was nothing; today it is $263,978.88. Total assets of the Baptist Orphanage at the present time (build-

DR. W. DOUGLAS HUDGINS, pastor, First Church, Jackson, is pictured above with the bronze plaque which honors the pastors and missionaries who have gone out from the church.

Warren Clayton Sullivan, another native Jacksonian, was ordained on July 10, 1949, and became the first pastor of the Broadmoor Mission, now Broadmoor Church. Currently, he is doing special work on the staff of Southern Seminary, Louisville, Ky.

Schuyler Batson was ordained on June 11, 1950. After a seven-year pastorate at Bay St. Louis, he was for two years assistant pastor at First Church, Jackson. He is now pastor of First Church, Oxford.

G. Carroll Starkey, Jr., native of Jackson, was ordained March 18, 1951. For several years he was pastor of First Church, Cornelia, Georgia. On September 1 he became pastor, under the direction of the Home Mission Board, of the Ohio Convention Board, of a new work near Middletown, Ohio. First Church, Jackson, is helping support the mission work under his direction.

Robert L. Lambright, Sr., now pastor of Second Church, Bogalusa, Louisiana, is a native Mississippian. He has been in the active pastorate since 1957.

Robert Lamar Lambright, M. D., is a medical missionary in Indonesia, appointed by the Foreign Mission Board on May 9, 1957. He was reared as a child in First Church, Jackson.

James ("Jummy") Sherman Minnis, Jr., born in Jackson, was appointed missionary to the Indians by the Home Mission Board. He serves at Cuba, New Mexico.

ings, property, investments and bonds) equal $1,124,439.24.

The Orphanage has had no indebtedness since early in 1936, three months after the beginning of the present administration.

A native of Kentucky, William Gobel Mize finished high school at Brookhaven. In Training Union at First Baptist Church there, he met Clara Ray. Later he and Miss Ray were married in Durant.

Book Store

Mr. Mize was manager of the Baptist Book Store in Jackson while it was owned by the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board. He was education director at First Church, Brookhaven, for two years.

He has been active in First Church, Jackson, serving as deacon there. He was president one year of the Conference of Child Care Executives of the Southern Baptist Convention, regional vice-president of that organization at one time; and has also served as its vice-president general. He has been President of the Mississippi Pastors' and Laymen's Conference and first vice-president of the Mississippi State Baptist Convention. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Jackson Municipal Separate School District.

The Baptist Record pays tribute to a man who has spent 25 years in guiding the development and progress of a Baptist institution. He has a monumental task—and he has done it well.

Byron A. ("Pat") Clendinning is Professor of Religious Education at the Baptist Theological Seminary in Ruschlikon, Switzerland. He served as educational director at First Church, Jackson, 1951-1956. On June 19, 1958, he was appointed by the Foreign Mission Board and assigned to teach in the European Seminary.

Graham Lee Hales, Jr. Jacksonian, is now serving as a full-time pastor at New Castle, Ky. He was ordained on June 19, 1960 and on July 3 began his work as resident pastor of First Church, New Castle.

Missions office and he will devote the first several months setting up the program in Hinds County, working in cooperation with Dr. J. Clark Hensley, Hinds Superintendent of missions.

After the first several months the program of work will be extended to other areas of the state.

Serve As Liaison

Newman, with experience as a pastor and denominational worker, will serve as a liaison between the court, the church, and the child. He will follow the pattern of juvenile rehabilitation programs in 30 cities throughout the Southern Baptist Convention.

These programs stress sponsorship of juveniles by Christian families who seek to enlist the child and his family in church activities, says Dr. J. V. James, superintendent of Juvenile Rehabilitation of the Home Mission Board.

Newman, a graduate of Howard College in Birmingham, Ala., attended Southern Seminary in Louisville, Ky., and plans further study in Sociology and Psychology.

BROTHERHOOD REPORTS

We feel that reports are very important, especially at this time of year when many of our church Brotherhoods are enlisting new officers. These newly elected men need to be on our mailing list. We are receiving many reports. In fact, we are having one of the best responses that we have had in a long time. However, will you please check on your Brotherhood and see if you have mailed us a list of your new officers? Reports are important to use, again, in that we find out about new Brotherhood organizations through these reports. We are delighted that this year has been a good year for Brotherhood work in Mississippi. We have had many new church Brotherhoods organized. Again may we suggest that you check, if your Brotherhood has been organized this year, and see if we have a report in our office of your organization.

We would like for you to meet the presidents and pastors of some of our new Brotherhoods:

Post In Arizona

Rev. Leonard Holloway, pastor of the Robinson Street Church, Jackson, for the past ten years, has resigned to do pioneer mission work in Phoenix, Arizona.

Rev. Holloway led in the establishment of the mission that grew into the church which at the present time has the membership of 480 members, 200 of which were received upon profession of faith. The church now embodies all the Baptist church organizations and has developed from a tent to the present property valued at $25,000, consisting of a beautiful chapel-auditorium, and a two-story educational building.

Dr. J. Clark Hensley, Hinds Co. Supt. of Missions, has been supplying the pulpit. W. J. Bilbro is chairman of the Pulpit Committee.

Prohibition Is Worthwhile

By C. M. Day
Director of Temperance Work

Much criticism is directed at the Mississippi dry law because it fails to prohibit 100 percent, the sale of liquor. We agree that far too much liquor is sold in Mississippi, but even at that the number of permits in Mississippi is far below the national average.

According to the Christian Action of Florida, a temperance periodical, there are 427,881 retail outlets for liquor in the United States, which is an average of 8,557 per state, while Mississippi, according to the State Tax Commissioner's office, has only 655 federal permits, but even so, liquor is still sold illegally in Mississippi according to our state laws.

Many of those who criticize as hypocritical our conditions in Mississippi are responsible for this condition as a result of the black market tax and the tax enforcement of our prohibition laws. There are other groups who criticize and play up the fallacy of the law seemingly to pressure the repeal of our prohibition status.

Quotes UPI Report

On August 26, 1960 a UPI report quotes a Gulf Coast chamber of commerce leader as calling for a local option liquor system in Mississippi. Not only local but also national reports indicate a pressure toward influencing the public to accept liquor as a part of society. This is indicated in a report from the WCTU Bureau of Legislation in Washington, which quotes Spirits Magazine as being elated by the increasing liquor consumption among key groups. We quote, "Women and young people are an encouraging factor. Vodka's fantastic rise is largely a young people's boom." Where is the sense in the argument that legalization keeps young people from drinking?

There is another recent report by the UPI with headlines, "Liquor trade booming in dry state." Even so, liquor is still illegal in Mississippi, though we have permits in 41 counties ranging from one to 198 to the county. While these permits may not be used as prima facie evidence in prosecution at law they do tell us who are law violators in this activity and why liquor business is booming in 'dry state.' Federal permits do not prevent prosecution (only they may not be used as evidence) of those who sell liquor in Mississippi. Reason would tell us that a person would not buy a federal license to sell liquor if it was not the intention of the holder of a permit to sell alcoholic beverages.

Caused by Indifference
If liquor business flourishes in "dry state" as was quoted in an article above referred to, it is because of indifference to the enforcement of our dry laws which is in wilful disregard to the wishes of the people of Mississippi, who have repeatedly said no to legal liquor. Mississippi was the first state to ratify the Eighteenth Amendment for national prohibition. In 1932 Mississippi's delegation to the Democratic convention voted against the repeal plank of the Democratic platform. In 1943 the state legislature legalized beer and provided for a referendum in which the people could express their wishes regarding a dispensary system.

The results were so overwhelmingly in favor of dry sentiment that the issue was dropped. A movement for repeal in 1952 was again overwhelmingly defeated by the people, and again in 1960 repeal was defeated by the Mississippi legislature. It would seem to us that this should be convincing evidence that the people of Mississippi do not want legalized liquor.

We are encouraged by a recent report from the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol which indicates a crack-down on "driving while under the influence." Arrests doubled in July, 1960 over July, 1959. We believe a similar tightening of law enforcement would bring heartening results and would prove that interest and careful prosecution of our law enforcement officer's duties could bring liquor violations under control.

DEDICATED YOUTH CONFERENCE

BLUE MOUNTAIN COLLEGE

November 25-26, 1960

Blue Mountain College is the meeting place of Mississippi's Dedicated Youth Conference, beginning at 10:30 A. M. on the Friday after Thanksgiving and closes with the noon meal on Saturday. The dates are November 25-26, 1960.

SPEAKERS

Bill Cody, Associate Secretary for Missionary Personnel, Foreign Mission Board, Richmond, Virginia.
Dr. Dale Cowling, pastor of Second Baptist Church, Little Rock, Arkansas.

PARTICIPANTS

This conference is planned for High School students who have in their church, in an assembly, church camp or retreat made a dedication of their lives to the following of God's Will. They may or may not know exactly what His Will for their lives may be, but they have stated that they are willing to commit themselves in their vocations unservedly to his bidding.

EXPENSES

The cost of the conference is $4.00 per person. This pays for one night's lodging and four meals served at the college.

RESERVATIONS

Send the $4.00 mentioned above to the Baptist Training Union Department, Box 530, Jackson, Mississippi, as a reservation fee. No reservation will be accepted after November 15. Each reservation must be accompanied by the name, age, address and sex of the registrant.

CONFERENCES

Special conferences for those preparing for the ministry, for missions, and for other church-related vocations will be provided. There will be conferences for young people who feel led into the secular vocations.

10:50 "Plans for Future Temperance Approach"—J. B. Smith

CORONATION AND RECOGNITION SERVICE AT ITTA BENA—First Church, Itta Bena was recently the scene of a Coronation and Recognition Service. The theme of the service was "Jesus Shall Reign." Mrs. Scott Conway, G. A. Leader, planned the service and the pastor, Rev. J. R. Nannery, presided. G. A.'s advancing in Forward Steps were: Queen With Scepter—Rita Goss; Queens—Doris Jean Hambrick, Anne Hodges, and Patricia Abbey; two Ladies In Waiting; three Princesses; and four Maidens. The R. A.'s and the rank they occupied are; shown at left; Coleman Chong, Ambassador; Benny Hill, Page; Tommy Murphy, Page; and Jerry Gordon, Ambassador.

"ARISE, SHINE" was the theme of the G. A. Coronation service at Van Winkle Church, Jackson, Rev. Herman Milner, pastor. Participating were four Maidens, five Ladies-in-Waiting, five Princesses, five Queens, three Queens-with-Scepter, and one Queen Regent.

RECEIVING LINE of Queens at the G. A. Coronation Service at Calvary Church, Jackson. Miss Marjean Patterson is G. A. director. Miss Willa Dean Freeman, state G. A. director. Mrs. E. P. Sylvester (at right) is associate G. A. director.

POPLAR SPRINGS DRIVE CHURCH, Meridian used the theme, "Jewels for His Kingdom" in their G. A. Coronation Service. Barbara Grice received her cape as the church's first Queen Regent. Nancy Snowden, Judy Oliver, Cheryl Stephenson, and Kaffy Key were crowned as Queens. Five Princesses, four Ladies-in-Waiting, and six Maidens were recognized. Mrs. W. L. Clifford is G. A. Director.

Witnessing For Christ

A few nights ago in a motel room in a South Mississippi city, I turned on the television, just in time to hear Jack Parr say "Our special guest tonight is Billy Graham."

Ordinarily I do not see the Jack Parr show, but that announcement caused me to watch the program, and I was very glad that I did. I think that I learned one of the reasons God uses Billy Graham.

Of all the places to give a witness for Christ, I cannot think of one more difficult than on a program such as the Jack Parr Show, before a nation-wide audience. Yet Billy Graham did it. It was one of the finest examples of finding a way to talk about Christ that I have ever seen.

Mr. Graham deliberately brought up the subject of man's need of God and of salvation. He discussed man's sinful condition, and the provision that God had made for regeneration through Jesus Christ. He discussed salvation and answered questions concerning what it means to be saved. He urged Jack Parr and others on the program to attend church, and secured Jack's promise to attend church the following Sunday. Billy even invited him to attend a Baptist church.

Surely this experience reveals one reason why God uses Billy Graham. Perhaps God would be able to more effectively use some of us if we sought ways to witness for Christ in every conversation and every contact.

This is what God wants us to do. Jesus said "Ye shall be witnesses unto me." Every Christian has many opportunities to speak for Christ every day.

How long will we keep silent when God is saying speak?

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Mize

Among the many Baptist leaders who have made a lasting contribution to Mississippi Baptist life and work, must be counted Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Mize, who are this month retiring after 25 years direction of the Mississippi Baptist Orphanage.

Under their leadership the orphanage has become one of the leading child-care institutions in the Southern Baptist Convention.

They have ministered to almost 1800 children, and all over Mississippi and in many other places, men and women who are worthy citizens today, can say, "I found care and guidance under Mr. and Mrs. Mize at the Mississippi Baptist Home."

Mr. and Mrs. Mize have travelled the highways and byways of Mississippi to sell the Baptists of our state on their responsibility in caring for homeless children. The effectiveness of their efforts is seen in the widespread support given the orphanage by the churches.

A modern physical plant has been erected during the present administration. Only one building of the sixteen now on the campus was there 25 years ago. All of this was done without incurring any debt. A strong staff of workers has been assembled, and they, with the splendid equipment, have made possible the finest type of child care.

Theirs has been a job well done, and on the occasion of their retirement we join other friends everywhere in saluting Mr. and Mrs. Mize, and expressing our gratitude for the splendid service they have given.

Juvenile Delinquency

One of the most serious problems facing America today is juvenile delinquency. The 1959 Uniform Crime Report, recently released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, reveals that juvenile crime has increased 100 per cent since 1948.

Many agencies are alarmed by the situation and are seeking to do something about it. Conferences have been held, committees have been appointed, and definite action has been taken in many places.

The Home Mission Board has assumed the responsibility for leading Southern Baptists in a positive program to combat such delinquency. A full time director of the program has been appointed and plans are being developed for carrying the work to the entire Convention territory.

The Mississippi Baptist Convention is taking a lead among the state conventions in cooperation with the Home Mission Board in this program. Elsewhere in this issue of the Record is carried the story of the appointment of a full-time worker in this field for our state. The work will begin first in Hinds County in cooperation with the Hinds County Association.

We expect that Jackson and Hinds County may have a lower juvenile delinquency rate than many of the larger cities of our nation, nevertheless the problem is here, and we commend the Convention Board, the Home Board, and Hinds County Association for doing something about it.

We should have a better state, and many young people should have better lives, because this program succeeds. To succeed it must have the cooperation of every church and pastor. We know that this will be given, because of the interest of our people in youth, and we expect to see real results in this new field of ministry in coming months.

GUEST EDITORIAL

From The Baptist Messenger, Oklahoma

Just A Minute

Recently R. G. Lee—who has made many contributions to Baptist life—pointed out that a nauseating irreverence toward God has been sweeping the country. He cited the following examples:

Movie actress Piper Laurie described a visit to Korea and her return from the military front in these words: "I felt just wonderful because I knew some how I just new, there were not four of us but five of us going back in that jeep. And guess who the fifth passenger was . . . It was good old God."

Jane Russell got in the act by saying, "I love God. When you get to know him, you find he's a livin' Doll."

And Tallulah Bankhead as a guest on the Jack Paar show quoted this statement from a renowned dance band leader about his attitude toward prayer: "I talk to that Cat, Jesus Christ, every night."

All of us should pray for the salvation of the lost in the entertainment world just as all other unsaved people. But it is time for the Hollywood crowd to quit talking about God until they really know him.—Jack Gritz, Editor.

LADY CYCLIST FINDS FRENCH CHURCH SITE

By Virginia Hendricks

Tours, France —(BP)—Missionary Jack Hancox, representing Southern Baptists, and Francis Cachera, representing French Baptists, have purchased a new building to be used by the Tours Baptist Church. Funds were provided by the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Tours is headquarters for the famous chateaux country. The Baptists of this large, strategic city have waited seven years for a meeting place.

Madame Dubois, a member of the church, has been especially diligent in searching for a site for the church. She has scoured the city, but was unable to find suitable property at a reasonable price.

While riding her bicycle a few days ago, she was forced by two large trucks to take a detour. Her detour took her by the newly completed building which had a "For Sale" sign in the window. Madame Dubois followed up her discovery, and this climaxed the answer to the prayers of fellow Baptists and herself.

The property is located near the center of town, the railroad station, and new university now under construction. It is hoped that it will become a Baptist Student Center when it is outgrown by the church.

New Books

A HISTORY OF THE BAPTISTS OF OAK RIDGE, LOUISIANA, by Glenn Lee Greene (Parthenon Press, Nashville, 181 pp.).

Depicts the history of early Louisiana Baptists as well as the record of Oak Ridge Church, one of the first Baptist churches in the Louisiana territory. Interestingly written, and well documented, the book will be of much interest to lovers of history. Much Mississippi Baptist history is included in the book because there was a close relationship between the churches of Southwest Mississippi and those of Northeast Louisiana.

GOD'S SPOTLIGHT ON TOMORROW by Paul R. Alderman, Jr. (Loizeaux Bros., paper, 32 pp., 50c).

Seven brief sermons on the Second Coming of Christ. Each sermon is outlined under seven points. Premillennial interpretation.

THE DEVIL AND I by Olive Ross Thompson (Philosophical Library, Inc., 69 pp., $3.75).

Autobiographical revelation of experiences and lessons learned in trying to find the answer to life's problems and perplexities. Shows a growing understanding of the truths God seeks to reveal.

"This is our most ideally-located property in France!" says Henri Vincent, President of France Baptists.

The work at Tours, as well as the beginning of French Baptist work in Chateauroux, will be financed by a Southern Baptist church now being organized at Chateauroux, France, by American military families stationed there.

60 Years Ago

Pastor E. L. Jones of Mt. Pisgah Church, Rankin County, reports a "glorious meeting" in which the church "was much revived." There were twenty additions, nineteen of them by experience and baptism.

The Yockanookany Church closed a good meeting of days which resulted in "no accessions to the church, but all seemed to be revived." Pastor S. W. Sproules was assisted by Rev. Madison Flowers.

50 Years Ago

Rev. H. R. Holcomb assisted Pastor R. L. Bunyard in an eight-day revival meeting with the Magnolia Baptist Church, Pike County, during which eleven joined the church, four of them by baptism; and "the church was greatly benefited."

Pastor J. R. G. Hewlett reported a very successful meeting in his church at Tylertown, resulting in seventeen additions. Rev. H. R. Holcomb did the preaching.

There were 42 accessions to the Calvary Church, Silver Creek, during their annual revival meeting in which Pastor H. C. Roberts was assisted by Home Board Evangelist W. A. McComb. The Evangelist made an appeal for funds to "free their beautiful church from debt" which resulted in more than a thousand dollars in cash and subscription.

40 Years Ago

Pastor J. B. Quin tells of a revival in his church at Tylertown which proved "quite a success," netting twenty additions. Dr. W. A. Hewitt was the preacher. He reports 40 accessions, 30 of them for baptism, to the New Zion Church nearby in which he assisted the pastor, Rev. C. T. Caken.

Rev. W. E. Farr of Gloster tells of his fourteen months with the Mt. Pleasant Church, Amite County, as afternoon supply pastor. In that time he had baptized into its fellowship 82 people, of whom twenty-one were heads of families.

By John Allen Moore Visiting Professor of Missions, Carver School

Among the 46 students enrolled this session at the Baptist Theological Seminary in Rueschlikon near Zurich, Switzerland, 18 nations are represented. Since the establishment of this institution in 1949 students have come from 29 different countries.

Most of them have been from the various countries of Europe which have been represented are Algeria, Canada, Egypt, Indonesia, Israel, Lebanon, Mexico, Southern Rhodesia and the U.S.A.

The acting president Dr. J. D. Hughey and 5 members of the faculty are Southern Baptist missionaries; one is Swiss and another German. Other members of the staff are Swiss, German and Italian.

Language In English

The language of instruction in all classes is English, and a working knowledge of this language is required for student admission. Sometimes the English one hears on the campus is a bit out of the ordinary, however. One day a student pushed back from the table after a hearty meal in the seminary dining hall and said with a sigh, "I am fulfilled."

The students come from from countries where Baptists differ in their attitude toward the historical study of the Bible, theological approach, ecumenicity, and church polity. Churches in some areas take for granted practices which call for exclusion in others. Most European Baptist groups regard the ecumenical movement about as Southern Baptists do, but four of them are members of the World Council of Churches. Among the results of these varied backgrounds are lively discussions at the Rueschlikon seminary, as one may well imagine.

"I was shocked at first to find that Baptists from the different countries were not the same," a Polish student told me. "Afterward I noticed that those who had other ways of behaviour than those I was accustomed to in our churches were Christians after all and could be in many ways examples for us. So I changed my point of view."

Experience of Adult

This is the experience of most of the students. They learn to live and work in brotherly love with those of differing backgrounds and somewhat different views. They discover that the things which unite us as Baptists are the important things both in the content of our faith and in church polity.

The normal course of study at the seminary is four years, leading to the bachelor of divinity degree. There is a diploma course for those who do not meet the entrance requirements for the B.D., which is the completion of pre-university schooling. The only graduate theological degree offered is the Th.M., but a number of students have studied for the doctorate at the University of Zurich under the sponsorship of the seminary.

The Rueschlikon seminary is located about six miles from downtown Zurich on a beautiful seven-acre campus overlooking the Lake of Zurich. There are six buildings, including a dormitory for single students, an apartment house for married students, a president's home, and a chapel completed in 1959.

The Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board purchased the original property, provided funds for the new buildings, and it makes annual appropriations for the seminary budget. Most of the students are on scholarships; some of these are provided out of the budget, others come from American Baptists and other groups, the remainder from interested individuals. Students work five hours each per week in the buildings or on the campus as their contribution; and most of them work the five hours additional that is allowed, in order to have money for books, laundry, and incidentals.

Twelve Churches

Baptists in German-speaking Switzerland number only 1400, in twelve churches, but most of these are in or near Zurich. Students who can use German work in these churches and others in southern Germany each weekend. Several students visit congregations in the French or Italian areas of Switzerland, some speaking through interpreters. A bilingual (German and English) Baptist church was organized in Rueschlikon last year and many of the students, as well as faculty and staff, are active members of this congregation. An important feature of the

A Toast To His Death

Everybody was supposed to drink. For the occasion was the last supper. And the twelve apostles were there—including Judas, apparently. Jesus professed the wine for the disciples to drink. In a sense, the wine was a toast to His death. It was an object lesson signifying His death shortly to occur. So, Jesus directed the disciples (according to the KJV): "Drink ye all of it" (Mt. 26:27).

But the point is obscured. For all refers not to the wine but to the disciples. This is clear from the Greek text. Properly translated, what Jesus said was: "All of you drink it."

Hence, His concern was not that the wine be depleted but that every disciple should (figuratively) "taste" of his death. Presumably all the disciples present drank the wine. But it is impossible to say to what extent they knew what they were doing. Jesus had prophesied earlier to James and John: "My cup indeed ye shall drink" (Mt. 2:23). He meant, I suppose, that they would share in His death by their own martyrdom. But that event was still a long way off, with many lessons yet for them to learn.

And Jesus had also taught that everybody who is truly His disciple must "eat the flesh of the Son of man and drink his blood" (John 6:53).

Here, then, is at least a part of the significance of the wine in the Lord's Supper. Every true disciple ought to drink it, testifying to the death of Jesus and signifying one's own willingness for His sake also to die. Copyright 1960 by V. Wayne Barton.

work in Rueschlikon is the summer conferences conducted by the seminary. These are held in turn for pastors, women, youth workers, church musicians, and other groups. The seminary chapel (which serves the church also) has facilities for simultaneous translation into four languages, and this is useful for the conferences. As Dr. Henry Cook of England has said, "Rueschlikon is not only a school of learning; it is a place of meeting."

Counselor's Corner

By Dr. R. Lofton Hudson

"TEENAGE DISOBEDIENCE"

QUESTION: What do you think of a pastor who sides with a disobedient teenager against her parents and walks up and down the streets openly berating the parents? Also, he betrays confidences of people who have told him things about themselves, both from the pulpit and on the street. If he keeps on taking sides with young people against their parents, what will become of authority in the home?

ANSWER: Really, now, pastors don't have that much influence, do they? It doesn't matter what the pastor or anyone else says, parents are to be the authority in the home.

Of course, a pastor should not betray confidences. And who is he to take sides against parents and encourage teenagers to be disobedient. They will do enough of this on their own.

But did it ever occur to you that pastors are human and limited, like everyone else. We are living in a day when disobedience and defiance of authority are quite popular. This is a real problem to parents of teenagers and a real hazard to teenagers.

Perhaps the solution is for parents to develop more backbone on important issues and more permissiveness on unimportant ones. Come to think of it, this pastor might be right in siding with the teenagers. Some parents are terribly unreasonable. It would be safer if he takes sides with the parents. They pay his salary. But, of course, he may wish to be a prophet as well as a pastor. It is hard to be both in a modern pulpit. Stand by him!

Church-State Issue Hits Many Fronts

THE BAPTIST RECORD 5

Kentucky Calls Off Its Inter-Faith Meeting

LOUISVILLE —(BP)— The General Association of Baptists in Kentucky has put off indefinitely a proposed conference with leaders of other denominations.

The meeting was first scheduled Apr. 28, then reset for Oct. 4.

As the October date neared, association officials found that response by others was not sufficient to "guarantee a meeting with all religious viewpoints represented."

Some observers said the current so-called "religious issue" in the presidential campaigning had an indirect bearing.

Meeting Approved

The conference was to be under auspices of the association's public affairs committee. The association had approved the inter-faith meeting after taking notice of "mounting tensions in public affairs as religious groups bring their often divergent policies and practices to bear upon public life."

"This is especially true with reference to education and health programs of our state and nation," the association continued.

Dr. W. C. Boone, Middletown, Ky., Association general secretary, and Edwin F. Perry, Louisville minister who is chairman of the committee, issued invitations last March to leaders of major denominations in Kentucky, including Roman Catholics and Jewish groups.

The Western Recorder, Kentucky Baptist weekly magazine, said that the Roman Catholic Church Archbishop of Louisville did not reply to the invitation to meet Oct. 4. "It was felt that discussion which left out the Roman Catholics would do little to remove present misunderstandings," the Western Recorder reported.

Ramsey Pollard Reiterates Own Election Ideas

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. —(BP)— Speaking at a church anniversary here, Dr. Ramsey Pollard, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, restated his personal opposition to the election of John F. Kennedy.

The Memphis minister took part in the 50th anniversary celebration of Central Park Baptist Church.

He declared, "any man who believes that every man should have the freedom to attend the church of his choice will go to the polls in November and vote against Jack Kennedy for president."

Continuing to express his own sentiments on the election issues, Pollard added, "I may be called a bigot but you who have read history, read the daily papers, or visited in any foreign countries will know I speak the truth in love."

He mentioned a Baptist church in Madrid, Spain, closed by the government. "When the seal rotted and fell off and the preacher went in to preach, he was arrested," Pollard said. "In many of these countries there is no more religious freedom than in Russia today."

Referring to Kennedy, the minister continued, "we give him the right to belong to whatever church he pleases. All we ask is that Roman Catholicism should lift its bloody hands of persecution and bigotry from the throats of those who wish to worship in some other church than a Roman Catholic church. If this is bigotry, make the most of it."

Pollard reported he has received several insulting letters recently on his stand. But, he went on, if anyone is being persecuted it is those of protestant denominations.

When individual Baptists speak, even those who hold office, they do so as individuals, not as spokesmen for the convention.)

N. C. Leaders Reveal Fears In Campaign

RALEIGH, N. C. —(BP)— More than a score of prominent North Carolina Baptists have joined together to issue a "declaration of conscience" about the "religious issue" in the campaign.

In their message, addressed to "brother laymen and ministers in Southern Baptist Convention," the 28 individuals "feel it our duty to voice a solemn warning about..." "The fiercely debated so-called 'religious issue.'"

They announced it is their belief that it constitutes a "regrettable and, we think, unjustified trend toward bitterness and disunity in our denomination — a disunity that could hinder our work and progress for a generation to come."

The signers, acting as individuals and not for the Baptist denomination, include members of agencies of the Southern Baptist Convention and of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

Three of the signers are members of the Board of Directors of the Biblical Record here, weekly state convention newsmagazine; one is a trustee of Southeastern Baptist Seminary at Wake Forest, N. C., an S B C agency; one is a member of the General Board which acts for the State Convention between sessions, and two others are trustees of state Baptist churches.

"We submit that the perils which now confront our nation and humanity demand a mighty and massive constructive unity of action by all Christians to save world peace. By concentrating on this end and forgetting all minor things that might divide us, Baptists can best serve the today and tomorrow of our denomination and that Prince of Peace under whose banner we should all rejoice to serve," the statement ended.

Nixon's Education Program Raises Current Issue

WASHINGTON —(BP)— Vice President Nixon recommends an aid-to-education program that includes federal grants to sectarian colleges.

The proposal was made known in a "position paper" on education prepared by the vice president and released by Herbert G. Klein, his press secretary, and distributed by the Republican National Committee.

In a press conference to answer questions on Nixon's program Secretary Arthur S. Flemming of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said that he was "absolutely convinced" that no constitutional question would be involved in classroom construction grants to church-affiliated colleges.

Fleming called Nixon's suggestions "A practical realistic program in terms of what you can get through the Congress of the United States."

Advocates Tax Credits

In another proposal that would aid both public and private colleges Nixon said, "I believe that the next Congress acts on tax reform legislation it should consider extending tax credits or deductions to cover tuition and other costs for higher education."

Although Nixon's income tax proposal does not include parochial schools, there were a number of bills introduced in the last Congress to provide federal aid to parochial education through the route of income tax credits or deductions.

Nixon's paper outlines the need for rapid advances in education in order to head off the advances of communism. He said that the federal government will not solve all of the problems in education, "but it must fulfill its traditional role of calling the nation's total resources in all their local and private centers of authority, to effective action."

The major targets in Nixon's aid-to-education program are: enhancing the teaching profession by rewarding salaries and by greater prestige for teachers, improvement in the art of teaching, adequate facilities and adequate budgets, and the establishment of standards of excellence.

In reply to his own question, "What role can and should the federal government play," Nixon proposes a ten-point program:

1. Aid for elementary and secondary schools. This would be done through matching grants to the states to help pay for construction costs of schools. He thus hopes to increase teachers' salaries by releasing local and state funds.

2. Aid for colleges and universities. This program would apply both to public and private schools, would expand the federal program of lowest cost loans for dormitories, and would provide matching grants for classrooms, laboratories and libraries.

3. Strengthening the teaching process. Nixon suggests a combination of federal loans and grants for research in the development of teaching aids, purchase of technical equipment, guidance and counseling services, administrative procedures, and institutes to improve secondary school instruction.

4. Loans, scholarships and fellowships. This involves expansion of the student loan program for college students, initiation of a national scholarship program, and legislation for income tax credit for tuition paid for higher education.

5. Incentives for teachers. Nixon proposes increasing the number of graduate fellowships under the national defense education act, forgiveness of loans up to 50 per cent for those teaching in higher education as well as for those in elementary and secondary schools, and tax allowances for teachers wanting further training.

6. Medical education. The proposal calls for matching grants to increase the facilities for medical, nursing and public health education. This would include both public and private institutions.

Catholic Laymen Reveal Fears In Campaign

WASHINGTON —(BP)— A five-point declaration favoring religious liberty, not only in the United States but in all parts of the world, has been issued by 165 prominent Roman Catholic laymen.

The statement, issued without consulting members of the Roman Catholic hierarchy, was signed by a representative sampling of Catholic lay leaders from the fields of education, business, science, politics, labor and arts.

At a press conference where the statement was released it was explained that the purpose was to clarify the position of American Catholic lay people on religious liberty and church-state relations. William J. Hagle, executive director, Operations and Policy Research, Inc., Washington, D. C., said that the position taken by Senator Kennedy was not an exception but that it represented the opinion of most Catholic laymen in the United States.

Points to Doubts

The laymen's statement acknowledged that the Roman Catholic Church has contributed to public doubts about their intentions. They said, "to the extent that many Catholics have failed to make known their devotion to religious liberty for all, to the extent that they at times have appeared to seek sectarian advantage, we must admit that we have contributed to doubts about our intentions."

Here is a summary of the five-point statement.

1. Catholic laymen believe in freedom of the religious conscience and in the Catholic's obligation to guarantee full freedom of belief and worship as a civil right. It is the Catholic duty to achieve this freedom in every nation.

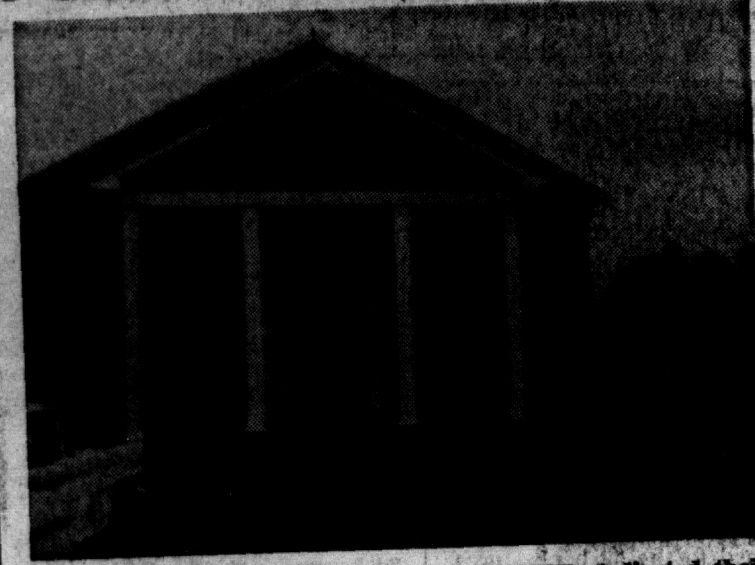

2. Catholic laymen deplore the denial of religious freedom in any land, especially where Catholics constitute a majority.

3. Constitutional separation of church and state offers the best guarantee both for religious freedom and civic peace. Efforts to undermine the principle should be resisted.

4. Religious liberty means, among other things, the freedom of a church to teach its members and the freedom of its members to accept the teachings of their church. Civil society's legitimate interest is limited to the public acts of the believer as they affect the whole community.

5. In his public acts as they affect the whole community the Catholic is bound in conscience to promote the common good and to avoid any seeking of a merely sectarian advantage.

At the press conference in which six prominent signers of the statement answered questions, the group declined to comment on their attitude on the efforts of the Roman Catholic church to secure tax funds for their institutions and on the development of a Catholic CENTER HILL CHURCH, MONROE COUNTY, dedicated their new church building on August 28. Rev. R. B. Patterson, area missionary, delivered the dedicatory message. Miss Ruby Grant brought an address on missions; Frank H. Cockerham, Jr. read the church history; Roy Fairchild lighted the note. Erected in 1957 at a cost of $27,000, the building was paid for in a little more than three and one-half years, or ten and one-half years ahead of schedule. The church's resident membership is 194. Rev. Eddie Foster is the pastor.

political party in Puerto Rico, which may be the 51st state in the union.

The reasons given for declining to comment on these issues were that they were irrelevant, that there are individual differences among Catholics on these questions, and that this panel had no authority to take positions on specific problems for the entire group of signers of the religious liberty document.

The press conference panel said that there is no Roman Catholic "dogma" on church state relations, that the subject is still under discussion in the church, that Catholics are free to choose between the traditional position of the church and the modern approach to separation.

And among the signers of the statement are Clare Booth Luce, former ambassador to Italy; Senator Eugene J. McCarthy (Minn.); Victor F. Hess, Nobel Prize winner in Physics; Phyllis McGinley, Poet and Essayist; Gen. J. Lawton Collins, U. S. A.; Ret.: Dr. Harry J. Carman, Dean Emeritus, Columbia College, Columbia University; J. W. Simmons, president, Simmons Cotton Oil Mills, Dallas; Edward Bennett Williams, Washington, D. C., attorney; and James B. Carey, president, international union of electrical, radio and machine workers, AFL-CIO, Washington, D. C.

POAU Assesses Statement By Catholic Lay Leaders

WASHINGTON, D. C. (RNS)

A statement by 165 prominent Catholic lay leaders affirming their belief in separation of Church and State drew praise here from Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State. Dr. Glenn L. Archer, executive director of POAU, endorsed it for "commendably supporting our American tradition" but said it made no mention of "the real issue at stake" which he said was "use of public funds for church institutions."

"Why do they not follow it up by disavowing their Church's drive for public tax funds for parochial schools and other religious institutions?" the POAU leader asked in a public statement. "If they would take a step of this kind, we would find their avowal of faith in separation completely credible."

"We appreciate greatly the laymen's personal declaration of faith in religious freedom and wish it could be shared by the Roman Catholic clergy who actually manage that Church's affairs," said Dr. Archer. "We hope that these laymen will use such influence as they have with the clergy of the Church, and that they will make their views known to the Pope."

Dr. Archer added that he hopes such statements on religious liberty may eventually lead the Pope, as head of the Roman Catholic Church, "to specifically condemn present practices of intolerance in Spain, Colombia, and other countries and thus deliver Protestants and Jews from these oppressive tactics."

Mississippi College Students Invade Puerto Rico

Chicagoans speak of the fire of '71; San Franciscans speak of the 'Earthquake of '06; but Puerto Rican Southern Baptist are talking about the invasion of '60 by which they mean the invasion of Mississippi College Students who are working this summer with our churches in various capacities. We hope that this invasion is not as tragic nor as destructive as the other two events remembered by their dates.

Last year as an experiment, one student summer missionary from Miss. College was called by Metropolitan Southern Baptist Church of San Juan where He was used in several ways, but largely to build up the Youth Program of the church. The Lord blessed, so the church voted to call the same student back to serve in the capacity of Youth and Educational Director for this summer.

With Chuck Longino came a sophomore M. C. student who is serving as a Tentmaker Missionary. As the apostle Paul made tents at night to pay his way while he preached the Gospel, Fred Funches is working as a foreman on a construction crew. He preaches every opportunity afforded him, works in the church organizations and leads the R. A.'s.

M. C. Graduate

Wayne Evans graduated from Mississippi College shortly before arriving in Puerto Rico. He had been recommended to the Ponce Baptist Church as a Student Summer Missionary. The pastor at Ponce resigned just prior to Wayne's arrival on the field, however: as a result, he was extended a call from the church to serve as interim pastor with option to remain as full-time pastor at the end of the summer. The church is experiencing new growth under his ministry and will soon be entering a building program.)

Fisher Humphreys was a junior at Mississippi College in the spring when he was extended a call by the Borinquen Baptist Church, Puerto Rico's oldest (four years) Southern Baptist church, to serve as their summer Youth Director. Borinquen has found this experiment in missions to be rewarding, indeed, since the youth of the church has leaped forward both in numbers and spiritually.

Nix Arrives

Paul Nix arrived on the field late in July. He has served as Student Summer Missionary in the Ponce Baptist Church. He will be a sophomore at Mississippi College this fall. Paul is so overwhelmed by the challenge of his work that he is considering remaining on the island until Christmas.

Frank Leggett, will be a junior at Miss. College when he registers again. He and his wife, Lou, are spending the summer in San Juan working in several capacities. Frank's work has largely been in the field of engineering and construction as our new Spanish Auditorium has gone up this summer.

As these students give their time and talents, they find even richer rewards returning to them in spiritual and emotional maturity. This is not to mention the thrills involved in doing God's will; and working with brother Christians whose love touches their lives.

Just as these are experiencing first hand what it is like being a missionary on a pioneer mission field, any Southern Baptist student who has finished his sophomore year of college can apply (By February) to the Home Mission Board to serve the following summer as a Southern Baptist Student Summer Missionary. Or you can write Mr. Ralph Winders, State Baptist Student Secretary, Baptist Building, Jackson, for information about the B.S.U. summer missions program.

The invasion of '60 will long be remembered by Puerto Rican Southern Baptists. Nor will it soon be forgotten by the invaders who saw the slogan, "Puerto Rico for Christ" becoming a reality.

Colorado Leader To Speak In State

Rev. Leroy Smith

Rev. Leroy Smith, Superintendent of City Missions at Denver, Colorado, is to be in Mississippi next week, speaking in three Jackson churches on Sunday, and in Hinds County Association and some other associational meetings next week. His visit in this state is sponsored by the Hinds Association.

Mr. Smith was local director of the recent campaign conducted by Mississippi laymen in the Colorado city. In his messages while here in Mississippi he will tell of that campaign and of the whole Baptist program in Colorado and other western states.

On Sunday he will speak at 7:00 a. m. at a joint fellowship breakfast of the men of Ridgecrest and Broadmoor churches. At 8:30 a. m. he will speak at the early morning worship service at Ridgecrest, and at 11:00 a. m. at Broadmoor. He will preach at First Church at 7:30 p. m.

To Speak at MC

On Monday morning he will speak at the chapel service at Mississippi College. Monday evening he will be at the Madison County Association meeting at Simmons Memorial Church at Flora.

On Tuesday afternoon he will appear on the program of the Simpson County Association meetings at Goodwater, and Tuesday night at Hinds County Association at Griffith Memorial Church.

Wednesday evening he will speak at the First Baptist Church, Vicksburg at the Warren County Association. Thursday evening he will be in Yazoo County Association at Central Church near Yazoo City.

Graduate of Baylor

Mr. Smith is a native of Texas and graduate of Baylor University and Southwestern Seminary. After pastorates in Arkansas and Louisiana he spent eight years as Secretary of Evangelism for the Arizona Baptist Convention. He then became Associate Secretary of the Colorado Baptist Convention.

Suggestions To Associational WMU's Sunbeam Band Promotion 75th Anniversary Year

I. Every association providing Leadership Training opportunities for Sunbeam Band Leaders.

1. Use associational team if possible.
2. Combine with "neighbor" association when wise.

II. Plan to use state Sunbeam Director — check with your District President as to dates. Two plans suggested:

1. Basic Leadership Training Course — 2 days — 4 hours each day or
2. Advanced Leadership

Workshop (where basic courses have been provided by the association).

2 days—4 hours each day.

III. Include item in associational budget for 75th Anniversary emphasis — to include purchase of filmstrip (one of each for use in the associational).

Trust In The Lord God

By Dr. L. Bracey Campbell.
Scripture Lesson: Psalm 91;
121.

INTRODUCTION. The 91st Psalm is assigned as portion of the text of this lesson, but few of the writers pay very much attention to it, but devote most of their attention to the 121st. I vividly remember hearing a young man who had finished his best training for service with the Sea Bees, and was home now about to start for the Pacific theatre of war, singing his farewell to his parents' home.

This Sea Bee stood in his father's church and in his fine baritone sang his faith in his God in these words of the 91st Psalm: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. I will say of the Lord. He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in Him will I trust". And so the song went on till the proclamation of perfect trust was complete. A thousand times since, I have thought how appropriate this as a going-away song, especially when the going away was into special danger.

Psalm 121 to 134 are called the Psalms of degrees and are thought to be songs that pilgrims were accustomed to sing as they drew near Jerusalem in their pilgrimages year after year. For, you know every Hebrew was expected to make at least one pilgrimage to the Holy City. Many of them came more often, but many of them also lived far away and some were very poor. As they would first see from afar the hills, "the mountains" which "are about Jerusalem" Among the most beautiful of all the Psalms, this 121st is ageless as an inspirational song, and race wide in its application. It is a song of the pilgrim heart, heard often on the road to Jerusalem as often as pilgrims drew near the Holy City.

I. THE SOURCE OF THE PILGRIM'S HELP. "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help" (Psalm 121:1). or should it be punctuated, "I will lift up my eyes unto the hills. From whence does my help come? My help comes from the Lord, Who made heaven and earth". I had a teacher who earnestly taught that the second verse gave answer to the question in the first verse. He declared that the first verse is not correctly punctuated in the King James translation: that the second verse is a stout denial of any idea that "My help" comes from the hills, and as stout an assertion that my help comes from the Lord, who made the hills and the heavens.

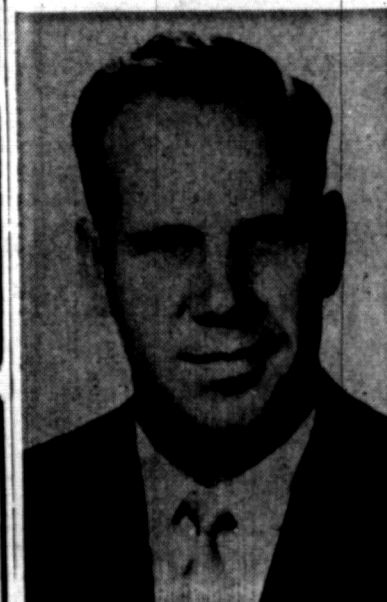

Of course, God is the God of the valleys as well as of the mountains, and there is a lot reminding of the Almighty in the broad spreading plain, but there is something peculiarly grand and aweinspiring around the summits of the great heights. To me it is small wonder that Abraham loved the mountains. I stood in the front yard of my friends in Denver, and looked out across the valley of the Colorado to where the gray range of the Rockies lifted its snow crested peaks upward toward the eternal blue, and I thought, how great the God whose work lifted those ridges from the plain. So it is easy for me to think of the heart-hungry pilgrims bursting into joyous song when they looked first upon the hills which from a distance marked the end of the pilgrimage.

II. PLEDGE OF THE ALMIGHTY'S FAITHFULNESS. "He will not suffer thy feet to be moved; He that keepeth thee will not slumber" (Psalm 121:3). He will not let your foot slip where slipping is most dangerous. He that watches over me will not sleep on the watch. He will care for your welfare both when you wake and when you sleep.

III. THE LORD PRESERVES FROM EVIL. "The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil" (Psalm 121:7). Oh! You got sick! So did I. Are you sure, am I sure that was an evil? A man got sick out here at Clinton, a man I loved, who had married a kinswoman of mine. "Nora tells me you led a very hurried life," I said. He said so, and I asked him whether he had had much time to visit with God, and whether he had taken time since he could not hurry to know God better, and he said he had done so to his heart's great credit. So it may be that the misfortunes you think you have suffered are good fortunes in the sight of God.

IV. YOUR CONSTANT COMPANION. "The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in" (Psalm 121:8). Always and everywhere, the Lord is present, "And underneath are the everlasting arms". This is a song and a plea for constant dependence upon the Rock of Ages that will stand secure while all the raging storms of hell shall vent their raging blasts in vain against the Rock on which there rests the trusting soul of God's beloved.

Myrick Beulah Pastor Resigns

Rev. Dan Henson, pastor of Myrick Beulah Church, Jones County, for five years, has resigned in order pursue further studies and to do part time church work.

During his pastorate at Myrick Beulah, the church building was completed and dedicated. New fans were installed in the Sunday school rooms, tile floor covering was laid in the vestibule and sanctuary, a church library was established, and chimes were installed. A full-time choir director has been added, a ditto machine purchased, and a nursery begun.

On Sunday, September 11, his last Sunday in the pulpit at Beulah, he and his family were showered with gifts.

Communists Rail At Billy Graham In West Berlin

BERLIN (RNS) — American evangelist Billy Graham was denounced by the Soviet Zone Communist press as a "preacher of psychological warfare" following his arrival here for a series of revival meetings in West Berlin.

Neues Deutschland described Mr. Graham as "a religious charlatan and an envoy of American imperialism who has

FOR ASSOCIATION SUPERINTENDENTS

A state-wide Associational Leadership Clinic will be held at Camp Garaway, October 31-November 1, 1960. All Sunday School Association Superintendents are invited to attend. The purpose of this meeting is to bring together all the associational organizations of the state in order to interpret their work, correlate programs and promote activities.

The program begins at 11:00 a. m. on October 31 and closes at noon on November 1.

Program personnel will include J. V. Jones and Lewis Newman, Home Mission Board, Atlanta; Porter Routh and Merrill Moore, Nashville, and a member from our state office.

Room and board will be provided. One per mile per passenger, per car will be offered for those attending all sessions of the clinic. Blankets will be furnished.

FOR CHURCH BUILDING CONFERENCES

* November 7—Grenada, First Temple

MORNING AFTERNOON NIGHT

Four From State Enroll At Golden Gate

(MILL VALLEY): Four Mississippians are among 308 students enrolled for the Fall session at Golden Gate Seminary, Mill Valley, Calif.

Enrolled are Jerry P. Douglas, Jackson; Margaret L. Fairburn, Tylertown; Charles W. Hedrick, Greenville; and Paul E. Lothenore, Corinth.

Thirty-four states and eight foreign countries are represented in the enrollment.

W. A. Harrell

The Secretary of the Church Architecture Department, of Nashville, Tenn., will lead in two state-wide Church Building Conferences scheduled at Grenada and Hattiesburg.

All morning and afternoon conferences will follow a planned schedule with evening sessions given over to private conferences with church planning survey building committees, pastors and other interested church leadership facing building or remodeling.

Pastors and committees desiring conferences are asked to write Bryant M. Cummings, Box 530, requesting conference time.

Off The Record

Upon receiving the bill for the extraction of a tooth, Pete phoned his dentist and complained, "Why, that's three times what you usually charge!"

"Yes, I know," replied the dentist, "but you yelled so loud you scared away two other patients."

"What's wrong?" cried the wife when her husband bellowed from the bathroom.

"My razor—it won't cut."

"Don't be silly," she responded, "your beard can't be tougher than the linoleum."

"Yes, Stamp collecting is educational," said the fond mother to the visitor, "For instance, where is Hungary, Eric?"

Without looking up from his stamp book, the young philatelist answered promptly: "Two pages in front of Italy."

"After Taking his friend through some hair-raising loops and turns, the daring pilot remarked, 'No doubt half the people down there thought we were going to crash.'"

Quavered his companion, "Half the people up here thought so, too."

One little boy had come up with a patriotic reason for not drinking his milk or eating his spinach.

He says he doesn't want to grow up to be too big to fit into a space capsule.

BRING TO YOURSELF GREAT BLESSING By Sponsoring this Orphan Boy

Read His Heart-rending Story JUST PICKED UP

This poor deformed beggar boy was found, by one of our co-workers in Korea, walking like an animal—on all fours! Starvation had done its awful work so that he had no strength in his hips and back to support his body.

WALKS ON HANDS AND FEET

Notice his spindly legs and deformed feet. The knee joint on one leg seems to bend the wrong way. He was wearing the much too large man's clothing which he had picked up somewhere.

WITH HELP HE STANDS

This young man, Mr. Suh, a converted former beggar chief, with a great love for these children, here supports the boy so that he can stand upright.

You may sponsor this boy or, if he is spoken for, another child who is very much in need. All are waiting for a "Daddy and Mommy"! You or your Sunday School, Bible Class, Junior Church, etc., will help bring Christ to your chosen orphan for only $8 a month—just 26 pennies a day. This provides all needs, including school tuition not free in Korea.

The ESEA is caring for over 5000 orphans. Over 6 million meals are served each year. Many more children are in desperate need, homeless, ragged and hungry. Help us expand our 69 homes, many of which are Baptist, ahead of Korea's severe winter and God will bless you.

CHRIST HIS HELP

Good nutritious food, vitamins and Christian medical care in our orphanage will bring this boy to normal health. Bible instruction will bring Christ to his young heart. But many, oh so many others, need help, yes, YOUR help!

Mississippi College Homecoming Day Planned For October 24

Mississippi College will welcome old grads and former students to Homecoming Day activities on October 22.

Capping off the day's activities will be a football game between Mississippi College and the University of the South (Sewanee) on Robinson Field. Pre-game ceremonies commence at 7:30 p.m. with a kick off for the grid battle at 8 p.m.

Feature of the day will be dedication of the B. C. Rogers Student Center Building. The $780,000 building is scheduled to be completed by Homecoming Day and many of the day's activities are scheduled in the building.

Student Parade

A student parade down Jackson's Capitol Street at 10 a. m. will be the first homecoming event. Registration of alumni and visitors begins at 1:30 p. m. in the Rogers Student Center. Open house will be held from 2 to 4 p. m. in the Fine Arts Building, Library, Lowrey Hall and the B. C. Rogers Student Center buildings.

Election of alumni officers will be held at the alumni business meeting scheduled from 4 to 5 p. m. The alumni dinner will be from 5:30 p. m. to 7 p. m. in the Rogers Building. Dedication ceremonies for the building will be held at that time. Also the Alumnus of the Year Award will be presented at the dinner.

Expect Largest Crowd

The largest crowd ever to attend homecoming activities is expected this year, according to Dr. R. A. McLemore, president of the college.

President of the Mississippi College Alumni Association is Dr. Albert Gore of Jackson. Homecoming program chairman is Henry Hederman, Jackson.

Those helping plan homecoming program activities include H. E. Spell, Roland Marble, Ed Blake, Mrs. Margaret Holderfield, W. J. Bilbro and Cecil Hannaford all of Jackson, and Dr. and Mrs. McLemore, Stanley L. Robinson, athletic director, and W. W. Fulton, alumni secretary.

Byhalia Church Reports Progress

The Byhalia Church paper, "The Trumpeter," reports, "Things are happening at the Baptist church. There is a renewed interest in all phases of the work and there is an increase in attendance at the worship services."

"A new roof has been put on the Sunday school room—the basement walls have been whitened—the baptistry has been given a new coat of water proofing."

September 25 the church recognized the 25 members who came by letter or baptism into the church since October, 1959. After the evening worship service a reception was held in the church basement in their honor.

The new members included the pastor, Rev. A. H. Leslie, his wife, the former Willie Pegg of Grenada, and their son, Arthur.

At the close of the reception many useful gifts were presented to the pastor and his family from the church by J. R. Reagh, chairman of the deacons.

Heart Attack Fatal

PINEVILLE, La. — Otto Whittington, Minister of Education of the First Church here, died Thursday night of last week following a heart attack.

Whittington was stricken with a heart attack Thursday afternoon while playing golf. He died two hours later.

ACKERMAN CHURCH crowned Judy Barron, La France McKnight, and Rosemary Porter as Queens in their recent G. A. Coronation. Four advanced to Princess, four to Lady-in-Waiting, and three to Maiden. Mrs. Eever Worrell is WMU President; Mrs. Bryan McKnight, Mrs. Doris Fulton, and Mrs. Frank Wallace are G. A. Directors; Rev. J. B. Smith is pastor.

MISS JOHNNIE ARMSTRONG, Nashville, Tenn., has returned to her Alma Mater, Blue Mountain College, as Director of the Department of Physical Education. After Miss Armstrong's graduation from Blue Mountain, she was a member of the Laurel City Schools faculty for one session. She came to Blue Mountain and served as Director of Physical Education from 1954 until the close of the 1959 session. She took one year's leave of absence and attended the University of Mississippi, 1959-'60, where she received her Master's degree.

98 Participate In Annual Carey Prayer-Mate Service

Ninety-eight students attended the annual prayer-mate service sponsored by the Baptist Student Union of Carey College.

An organ meditation period opened the program as Carole Annis, Wiggins, played appropriate hymns.

George Torney, Alexandria, Virginia delivered a devotion challenging the worshippers to use the most powerful weapon man has—prayer.

A solo, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," by Jeanette Henderson, Saraland, Alabama, supplemented the group singing led by Bobby Hood, Ellisville. During the solo the lights were dimmed to throw attention to a slide of "Christ Praying in Gethsemane" which was flashed on the front wall of the auditorium.

As the strains of "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" and "Fairest Lord Jesus" were heard in the background, the worshippers filed out in pairs by candlelight. On the front campus prayer-mates held their individual devotions as the candles twinkled as symbols of Jesus, the Light of the World." Following the individual devotions, chimes rang out to call the prayer-mates back to dismissal.

Henrietta Moore, Prichard, Alabama and Nancy Davis, Picayune, planned the program.

G. A. Organized At Brewer Church

On September 7, the girls of Brewer Church, with the help of the Woman's Missionary Union, organized a Girls' Auxiliary.

Officers are: Carolyn Brunnell, President; Sue Broome, Vice-President; Sheila Smith, treasurer; Judy Walley, secretary; Betty Ray Brasher, social chairman; Elaine Maxie, reporter; Mrs. Sherman Walley, counselor; Miss Jean Elkins, assistant counselor.

—DEVOTIONAL— "What Do Ye More Than Others?"

By DR. S. R. WOODSON,
Pastor, First, Columbus
Read Matthew 5:38-48

Jesus could not have asked a more pertinent question, than that put to the throng that sat before him on the mountain as he delivered the "Sermon On The Mount", when he said "What do ye more than others?" By asking the question he was inferring that a Christian's life and conduct should be different from that of the people of the world—"the publicans". He followed the question with the command, which is to be the ideal for all of his followers, "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect" Matthew 5:48. This command heeded and made a goal in life will make men "do more than others".

While Jesus appealed to his followers to do more than others, we observe that so many, who call themselves Christians, do as and do no more than others—"the publicans". Christ makes no real difference in their conduct. Socially they, all too often, are alike. What the people of the world do, is done by the church member. They take their "drinks" together, they go to the "spots" together, they participate in the same social events, it matters not how degrading; and in many ways they appear alike. Jesus said for his own to "come out from among them and be separate". Christianity finds itself handicapped today because so many who call themselves Christians are doing as and no more than others.

Christians ought to "do more than others". They know more; they can say, "I know whom I have believed". They know God, they know Life, they know right and wrong, they know the Bible, they know the joys of heaven and the punishment for sin. Too, Christians profess more; they profess to be the sons of God. Rom. 8:16: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirits that we are the Sons of God". Being the sons of God they ought to conduct themselves accordingly—in such a way as to bring glory and honor to His name. When a Christian thinks of what Christ has done to redeem him, he should not resist the appeal to do "more than others".

The question naturally follows, what should a Christian do "more than others"? He should be freer from sin, he should be more loyal to the church and the things of God, he should be more sacrificial in service and thus demonstrate to the world that Christ makes a difference in a life.

Trinity (Desoto) Calls O'Daniel

Trinity Church of DeSoto Association has called Rev. William O'Daniel as pastor, and he moved on the field September 29.

Rev. O'Daniel is a native of Tate Co. and attended Northwest Junior College and the Baptist Bible Institute. He was licensed and ordained in 1951 by the Trinity Church of Memphis, Tenn.

He held pastorates in Arkansas and Tennessee as well as Mississippi.

Rev. W. C. McGill

BETHLEHEM LICENSES PREACHER

Bethlehem Church, Jones Association, recently licensed to preach Wilfred Gene McGill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaines McGill, Route Six, Laurel.

Gene announced the call to preach several years ago and has been preaching since then. He is now a student at Clarke College.

Bethlehem has several preachers "boys" in the ministry. Two are pastors in the Jones Association, Rev. Michael Thornton, pastor of Bethel Church, and Rev. R. R. Gordon, pastor of Pine Street Mission Church. Rev. Thomas Balch, another product of Bethlehem, is serving in Oregon.

Rev. D. C. Jenkins is pastor at Bethlehem.

Antioch Has New Departments In Sunday School

Antioch Church, Lowndes County, has a newly departmentalized Sunday School.

The church began the new year with a record attendance of 272 in Sunday school.

Rev. Banks Hardy is the pastor.

Working with a grammar lesson, the teacher asked, "Willie, what is it when I say, 'I love you, you love me, he loves gets shot.'"

Wheeler Grove Reports Progress

Wheeler Grove Church, Alcorn Association, has entered a two month campaign of enlargement for the Sunday School and Training Union during October and November. The Educational Building has been renovated and the Sunday School and Training Union have been completely departmentalized with four departments in each. Some new classes have been organized and a weekly Sunday School Teachers' Meeting established.

A complete Religious Survey will be made of the Community very soon. A Sunday School book, "The Pull of The People" is being studied during October and the "Baptist Training Union Manual" will be studied in November.

Milton Benjamin is Sunday School Supt.; Mark Dilworth is Training Union Director; and Rev. Horace C. Thomas is the pastor.

BMC To Present "Anastasia"

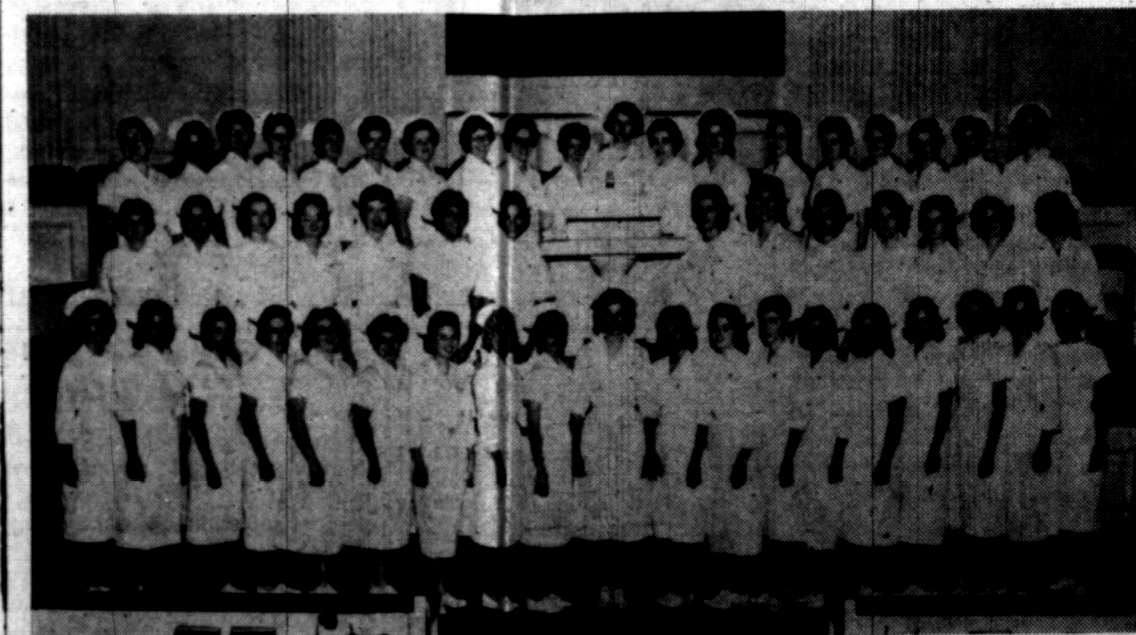

Blue Mountain College's Fall Speech Production is Guy Bolton's adaptation of "ANASTASIA", which will be presented on two evenings, October 28 and 29, at 8:00 o'clock in Garrett Auditorium of the College. The production will be directed by Miss Sylvia Hall, Director of the Department of Speech.

Mary Graham and Myrtle Sims were crowned Queens. Also receiving awards were two Princesses, three Ladies-in-Waiting, and nine Maidens. Mildred James, Queen-Regent-in-Service, and Mary James, Queen Regent, gave the charges. Mrs. D. M. Williams is the WMU President; Rev. V. C. Windham is the pastor.

SEPTEMBER 9, 1960—A humdrum Friday for lots of people, but for 52 young ladies at Baptist Memorial Hospital School of Nursing of Memphis, Tenn., it was a day that will never be forgotten. September 9th was the day they were graduated as nurses. MISSISSIPPI graduates are Nita Melton, West; Peggy Jo Lane, Eupora; Gayle Ervin, Ruleville; Alice Rose, Greenville; Claudine Reeves, Boyle; Sara Goodwin, Merigold; Sarah Sudbeck, Lexington.

New Hope Church Plans Homecoming

New Hope Church, Simpson County, will observe Homecoming Day on Sunday, October 30. There will be all-day singing and dinner on the ground.

The program will begin at 11 a. m. (The church is located six miles northwest of Mt. Olive).

KANSAS City, Mo. —(BP)—Trustees of Baptist Memorial Hospital here have elected Hamilton Reid of Houston, Tex., as administrator to succeed Goldman S. Drury who is to continue with the hospital board as Director of Denominational and Public Relations. Reid has accepted the position effective Oct. 1.

First, Hattiesburg Holds Largest Coronation Yet

The coronation of the Girls Auxiliary was held in the sanctuary of First Church, Hattiesburg, Rev. Clyde Bryan, pastor.

Decorations were tall baskets of white chrysanthemums and candelabra with white candles. In front of the velvet curtain at the baptistry, a large gold crown ornamented with jewels was suspended, upon which a spotlight was turned.

The theme of the program was "Jewels for His Crown."

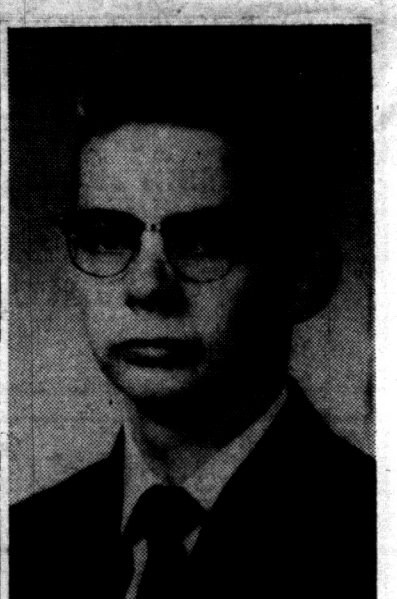

Mrs. H. L. Hansell is director of the Girls Auxiliary. Miss Willa Dean Freeman, state director of Girls' Auxiliary, presented the awards.

White Bibles were presented to the following: Queen-in-service — Kym Ross; Queen's regent — Becky Bryan, Genny Bryant and Jean Brown.

Also honored were 12 maidens, seven Ladies-in-Waiting, two Princesses, Queens, Ann Pearson, Sue Benedict, Ann Bomboy, Georgiana Risk, Lynn Jones, Connie Benedict, Lynda Aultman, Jane Bralder; Queens-with-a-scepter — Margaret Gillespie, Cathy Hansell, Judy Bounds, Priscilla Pearson, Mary Gillespie, Lynda Thomas, Martha Ann Harris, Cynthia Beradley.

Mrs. Claude Pittman, WMU president, expressed appreciation for the work done by the Girls Auxiliary this year. This was the largest coronation ever held by the First Church, Hattiesburg.

RIO PIEDRAS, Puerto Rico (RNS) — A $25,000 grant to the Evangelical Seminary of Puerto Rico here for a new men's dormitory has been made by the Kresge Foundation of Detroit, Mich. This brings to $75,000 the total amount the seminary has on hand to construct the $100,000 dormitory. Earlier $50,000 was given by the six mission boards which cooperate in the work of the interdenominational seminary.

Rev. George E. Meadows

Harmony (Lincoln) Calls New Pastor

Harmony Church, Lincoln County Brookhaven, called Rev. George E. Meadows of Sanatorium as their pastor on August 14.

Rev. Meadows was licensed to preach the Gospel at the age of 12, and he has been doing evangelistic work for the past 2 years. He is 18 years of age, and has attended college at Mississippi College, but is at present a student at Copiah Lincoln Junior College, Wesson.

Rev. Meadows was ordained by Athens Church, Mendenhall, which was his home church. The ordination service was held September 4 at Athens Church at 2 p. m.

The Ordaining Council was composed of the following pastors: Rev. R. R. Newman, Rev. C. M. Grayson, Rev. W. J. Hemby, Rev. G. O. Parker, Sr., Rev. J. N. Gipson, and Rev. Ralph Harrellson, and the following deacons: Vernal Reed, Charlie Kennedy, Bernell Berry, Marilyn Toney, W. F. Sowell, T. J. Foster, P. L. Godbold, Albie Johnson, Ormon Stennett, and J. N. Cockrell.

Athens Church presented Meadows with a Bible, and his pastor, Rev. R. R. Newman, presented him with a Pastor's Manual.

J. N. Gipson pronounced the benediction.
